It works when I use browser, but when I use my React app (installed separately, same version of react), it doesnt work. Im getting this error: Unhandled Rejection (SyntaxError): Unexpected token. It looks like its reading the JSX file in my React project? but why? This is my code: import React from'react'; import { use } from'react-router'; use((req, res, next) => { let location = new URL(req.originalUrl); location.search = `?${req.params.term}`; res.header('location', location.href); next(); }); export default function TitleComponent() { const { productid } = this.props; let user = [{id: 1, name: 'Test'}, {id: 2, name: 'Test 2'}, {id: 3, name: 'Test 3'},]; let header_ref = React.useRef(null); React.use(() => (
